The following speech is attributed to a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature:

"I know vitium, Mr. Speaker; I say it in no disrespect; I know you; I have had a heap to do with you. They're a useful class, and—yet with the best of me you may have trouble."

An old bachelor says that giving the ballot to woman would not amount to anything practically, because they would keep denying that they were old enough to vote until they got too old to take any interest in politics.

Do daily and hourly your duty; do it patiently and thoroughly. Do it as it presents itself; do it at the moment, and let it be its own reward. Never mind whether it is known and acknowledged or not, but do not fail to do it.

her own paper for a husband. She says he must be a printer, and possess means sufficient to buy a new press. m14 11

APPEAL FOR THE BIRDS.

Oh, don't disturb the little birds that gather round your home. Let wren come with gentle acts, and bid them freely come. And let their homes and callow young amid your favorite bowers. To sport a cure from every harm among your trees and flowers.

Your generous care they will repay with melody and song. From early dawn, to dewy eve, the summer hours so long! And will reward your kindness, too, by gathering from their bowers, or from the trees, the insect and the shadly bugs that form their daily food.

'Tis pleasant, too, to see them sport, so fearless and so free. On rapid wing they dash along, with twittering melody, and with their wings they strike the feeble wing. Or true their lay, singing voices their little songs to sing.

Oh, bid them come, the little birds, and settle round your home. And welcome them with gentle acts, and let them fearless roam. Secure from danger, light, or harm, through meadows, forest, lawn. To trill their sweetest melodies, at eve or early dawn.

Almost all flowers sleep during the night. The marigold goes to bed with the sun, and with him rises weeping. Many plants are so sensitive that their leaves close during the passing of a cloud. The dandelion opens at five or six in the morning and shuts at nine in the evening. The goat's beard wakes at three in the morning, and shuts at five or six in the afternoon. The common daisy shuts up its "day's eye" to meet the early beams of the morning sun. The crocus, tulip, and many others, close their blossoms at different hours toward evening. The ivy-leaved lettuce opens at eight in the morning, and closes forever as four in the afternoon. The night-dropping coreopsis turns night into day. It begins to expand its magnificent sweet-scented blossoms in the twilight, is in full bloom at midnight, and closes never to open with the dawn of day. In a clove field not a leaf opens until after sunrise.

Sisters, do not turn off your younger brethren as if they were always in your way, and any service which they might ask of you were a burden. Perhaps the hour may come when, over a coffin that looks strangely longer than you thought, and over a pale brow when often, half unwillingly and perhaps with a petulant push, you parted the hair, you bend with blinding tears and sobs that shake your very souls, while remorseful memory is busy with the by-gone hours, you wish then that when he came and asked you to help him in his play, or to lift him on your lap because he was tired, or take him out because he wanted to see, you had laid aside your book and made the little heart glad.

A preacher, whose custom it was to indulge in long sermons, exchanged with one who preached short ones. At about the usual time for dismissing, the audience began to go out, until nearly all had left, when the sexton, who had stood it as long as he could, walked up to the pulpit stairs, and said to the preacher in a whisper, "When you have got through, look up, will you, and leave the key at my house next to the church."

A penniless young lawyer asked a millionaire for his daughter's hand. "I shall give my child a hundred thousand dollars on her wedding day," answered the millionaire. "It is a pretty little sum; enough to provide breakfast for the family. Now, will you have the kindness to tell me how you propose to furnish the dinners?" "Oh, for that matter," returned the unabashed youth, "those who have breakfasted so well will not need any dinner at all."

The national food of Japan is fish. There is not an ocean or river creature that the Japanese do not eat. And most of the fish sold are not dead fish, but living, jumping, wriggling fish. So much is thought of fishes that, on a certain festival day, every family that has a boy born during the year hangs out a great painted fish to boast of it.

"My dear friend," said a gentleman to a bankrupt the other day. "I'm sorry to hear of your misfortune. Your family has my warmest sympathies." "Oh, don't trouble yourself about my family, I looked out for them, you bet! Just save your sympathies for the families of my creditors."

The most foolish thing that a man or woman can do is to make an attempt to chase up an evil report. Slander has no visible starting point, nor resting place; it begins from nothing and comes to nothing if allowed to die out through its own malignancy.

An old lady gives this as her idea of a great man. "One who is fearful of his clothes, don't drink spirits, kin read the Bible without spelling the words, and eat a cold dinner on wash-day without grumbling."

The Spaniards have an old saying which tells us that "white hands never offend"—which means that the little faults and indiscretions of ladies should always be quickly pardoned.

Men make their wills when dying, women are not allowed the same legal privilege because they are held to have had them during their lives.

A Council Bluffs clergyman charges by weight in marrying couples, the rate being four cents a pound for the groom and two for the bride.

An enterprising Eastern lady advertises for a wash woman, who will take her pay in lessons on the guitar.

A Schenectady infant terrible exclaimed: "Aunt Mary, I wish I had copper-toed teeth like yours."

A volume that will bring tears to your eyes. A volume of an eye.

Some of the most trusted lighthouse keepers on the Atlantic coast are women.

Barbers make many friends, but scrape more acquaintances.

A farmer in Lancaster county, Pa., last season, raised 15,000 pounds of tobacco from six acres of land, his crop bringing him $3,000.

Grains of Gold.

A day of idleness tries more than a week of work. Love looks not with the eyes, but with the mind. Right is a dull weapon, unless skill and good sense wield it. The man who never made a mistake never made a discovery.

Those who praise you in the beginning, will ask for you in the end. Physics, for the most part, is but a substitute for exercise or temperance. Vanity is of much greater consideration with people generally than utility. Opinions founded upon mere prejudice are always sustained with the greatest violence.

Pride is increased by ignorance; those who assume the most are those who really know the least. Genius has limits; virtue has none; every one pure and good can become pious and better still. The cultivation of the moral nature in man is the grand means for the improvement of society.

A mind too active and vigorous wears away the body, as the finest jewels do soonest wear their settings. We often omit the good we might do in consequence of thinking about that which is out of our power to do. There is no cure so potent as not to be evil spoken of; there is no cure so wicked as to merit all condemnation. It is one of the worst of errors to suppose that there is any other path of safety except that of duty.

Every heart has its secret sorrow, which the world knows not, and often times we call a man cold when he was only sad. A promise should be given with caution and kept with care. It should be made with the heart and remembered by the head. Day and night yields us contrary blessings, and at the same time a smile each other, by giving fresh fuel to the delights of both.

Truthfulness is a copper stone in character; and if it be not firmly laid in youth, there will always be a weak spot in the foundation. Memory is a patient camel, bearing huge burdens over life's sandy desert. Intuition is a bird of Paradise, drinking in the aroma of celestial flowers. Every human creature is sensible to some infirmities of temper, which it should be his care to correct and subdue, particularly in the early period of his life. It is a great blessing to possess a pursuit of happiness not to know that we have got it; that is, not to be content with a reasonable and possible measure of it. The improvement of the understanding is for two ends—first, our own increase of knowledge; secondly, to enable us to deliver and make out that knowledge to others.

Be more prudent for your children than, perhaps, you have been for yourself. When they, too, are parents, they will imitate you, and each of you will have prepared happy generations, who will transmit, together with your memory, the worship of your wisdom.

A Quaker Case.

Recently a great deal of interest has been manifested in the Rev. A. T. T. of Iowa, a Monmouth disciple and preacher, brother of Mr. George W. T. of Wisconsin, a prominent resident of Milwaukee county. This reverend gentleman is a modern miracle, and has become widely known as the unconscious preacher. He visited Danvers this week, and your correspondent obtained the following facts: Mr. T. is a gentleman of ordinary abilities, free from eccentricities and a farmer by occupation. During the day-time, while his nervous system acts normally, he shows nothing uncommon in his actions. Almost every evening (Sunday excepted) at about 7:30 o'clock, he becomes drowsy, and feels an irresistible inclination to go to sleep, to which he finally succumbs. After lying quietly for some time, he shows signs of awakening, which, in fact, is the first sign of his having passed into a state of catalepsy or somnambulism. In his subsequent getting up he seems to have complete control of his muscular actions. The most singular feature of this singular case is that he will invariably, in his condition, expatiate on some theological subject in a very interesting manner in German, English or a foreign tongue unknown to his friends. During all this time he is insensible to anything in his surroundings not immediately connected with the subject by which his mind is engrossed, and so complete is his convergence of his physical faculties upon that subject that he is entirely insensible to pain, showing no outward sign of it when picked up with a needle to the depth of an inch. He has not the slightest recollection of anything he has said or done while in this state, and his somnambulism is in so far an existence completely separated from his ordinary consciousness.

THE SIX OR SEVEN THOUSAND.—Such a habit of mind and heart is wrong, because it puts one into a dependency that will fit him for duty. I planted rose-bushes in my garden; the one thrived beautifully, and the other one perished. I found the dead one on the shady side of the house. Our dispositions, like our plans, need sunshine. Expectancy of reproof is the cause of many secular and religious failures. Fear of bankruptcy has spoiled many a fine business, and sent the man dodging among note-shavers. Fear of slander and abuse has often invited all the long boated vultures of back-biting. Many of the misfortunes of life, like heaven, see if you courageously meet them. How poorly prepared for religious duties is a man who sits down under the gloom of expected misfortune! "I pray," he says: "I do not think I shall be answered." If he give, he says: "I expect they will steal the money." Helen Chalmers, in the darkest hour of the history of the Free Church of Scotland, and when woe of the land seemed to weigh upon his heart, said to his children: "Come, let us go out and play ball or fly kite," and the only difficulty in the play was that the children could not keep up with their father. The Sumnerfields and McChesneys of the Church who did the most good, cultivated the sunlight. Away with heaven! They shall poison; they shall poison; and if they could climb so high, they would down the rejoinders of heaven with who and what.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, APRIL 9, 1890.

SAN FRANCISCO AGENCY.—L. P. Fisher, 21 Merchants' Exchange, is our Agent, and is authorized to contract for advertising, receive subscriptions and make collections on our account.

CHANGE OF TIME.

On Monday evening the CHRONICLE will appear as an evening paper. We have decided upon this change believing that our people will give a hearty support to a good evening paper, and such we shall endeavor to make the CHRONICLE. We have now three morning papers and one evening—enough to swamp the people of any town in the country not possessing the stamina of the people of Bodie. We are cognizant of the fact that Bodie can support two daily papers morning and evening, and for the reasons, and a desire to avoid night work and working on Sundays, which we are compelled to do on a morning paper, we make the change, which is agreeable to our friends and patrons.

Legislative.

The following bills have been passed by the Senate:

Assembly Bill No. 210—An act to amend Sections 825 and 800 of the Penal Code relating to proceedings in criminal actions prosecuted by indictment.

Assembly Bill No. 337—An act to encourage the planting of jute.

The following have passed the Assembly:

Assembly Bill No. 323—Relating to elections.

Senate Bill No. 218—An Act to prohibit the issuance of licenses to aliens not eligible to become electors of the State of California.

Assembly Bill No. 311—An act concerning passengers in vessels coming to any city or port in the State of California.

BILLS APPROVED.—The Governor has approved Assembly Bill No. 38, amendatory of an Act relating to mutual beneficial and relief associations.

Bill No. 36, conferring on Superior Courts powers heretofore exercised by other Courts.

Bill No. 144 amendatory of an Act regulating the sale of mineral lands belonging to the State. Approved March 23, 1890.

Bill No. 23, amending sections of Penal Code relating to crime and punishments.

Also, No. 191, repealing the Act organizing Reclamation District 205.

Also, No. 234, concerning trial of criminals for crime committed while in prison.

CONGRESSIONAL.—The Senate has passed the bill amending Sections 2262 and 230 of the Revised Statutes in relation to settlers' affidavits in pre-emption and community homestead entries. (It permits the affidavits required by these statutes to be made before County Clerks instead of before a Register or Receiver of land districts, thus equalizing the provisions, in this respect, of the homestead and pre-emption laws.)

Senator Farley presented several memorials from Mono County, protesting against the proposed changes in the mining laws.

The Kern County Gazette says that C. E. Day of that county has made a record this season as a quail shooter that is hard to beat. In 115 days he killed 7,577 birds. His biggest days' work were 100, 90, 101, 112, 91, 101 and 92. The greatest score made on the 10th of March, when, out of 25 quail on the wing, he killed 22.

Honors are being showered upon General Grant in New Orleans. Referring to an invitation to visit Vicksburg, the General said: "I once went into Vicksburg by the back door. I would like to get into it by the front door."

G. J. Murrell, a colored member of the Louisiana Legislature, predicts a still greater exodus of negroes this Summer from the South, where, he claims, they are virtually disfranchised.

Marginal women are not considered worthy to teach school in Chicago. We must confess that, leaving all questions of worthiness aside, we would prefer an unmarried woman if we were going to school.

Tuscarora saloon-keepers, when they get tired of the rush of business, vote themselves a holiday, shut up shop and go fishing.

It is claimed that every inch of rain, up to five that shall fall upon California, for the next 30 days is worth $2,000,000 to the grain crop.

A recent Lealtis funeral on a street with a dance, and some of the more conservative people of the city think it was verging on bad taste to have a dance during Lent.

The Workmen of San Francisco have filed a protest against counting the ballots of the Citizens' Union in the recent election.

A young lady recently visited the Racine light house to witness a storm. She got enough of the fun, for a storm arose that kept her a prisoner for five days.

The University of Brussels has for the first time admitted a lady as a student of science.

The proprietor of the Chicago Times has closed a contract with a Montreal firm for 1,000 tons of printing paper.

During the month of March ten mining companies disbursed dividends in San Francisco aggregating $234,100.

At a hunter's drive on St. Joe river, in Washington Territory, recently, the Indians killed 990 deer.

TOWN GOVERNMENT.

The Legislature is about to adjourn, and our citizens are still in the fog as to the fate of our town in the matter of its incorporation. The time is at hand when it will be absolutely necessary for us to have a town government of some sort. Several bills of a general character, looking to the formation of city and town governments, have been pending but what action has been taken on them we cannot say. A stranger coming to our city would say that it was high time we had an incorporation to compel a uniform system of street cleaning, to provide for proper sewerage, etc. As a town now stands there is no authority to do anything of a public character to compel property owners to do their part, and it is well-known that while many would be willing to assist in putting our town to rights, as it were, the majority will only act on compulsion.

Our fire department is kept up only by private subscription and at the expense of its members, who should be at no expense. We have a water supply furnished by a private corporation, when it should be owned by the town. We presume there has been a general incorporation act passed, so that our people can act under it as soon as its provisions can be known. We have heard nothing from the Stephens' bill introduced by Assemblyman Wasson, and presume it was laid aside on account of Neumann's general law on incorporations. As soon as it is ascertained we have a general law on this subject we trust a meeting of our citizens will be called to take some action in the matter.

Samuel R. Hoyt, the defaulting Tax Collector of Fulton county, Georgia, has turned up in Los Angeles, where he was arrested and brought to San Francisco. His case is now in the Courts on writs of habeas corpus.

Ohio will, it is said, instruct her delegation for Blaine.

NEW TO-DAY.

Application to Purchase Timber Land.
No. 115.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
Bodie, Cal., April 7, 1890.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT whereas J. H. Sullivan, a citizen of the United States, over the age of twenty-one years, has made application under the Act of Congress entitled "An Act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and in Washington Territory," approved June 4, 1878, to purchase at this office 54 1/2 ac. of S. W. 1/4 of S. E. 1/4 of S. 1/2 of Township 3 N., R. 2 E., M. 10 S., containing 120 acres, claiming said land to be valuable chiefly for its timber, and the said applicant having made and filed in this office the affidavit as to the character of said land as required by said Act.

Now, therefore, any and all persons claiming said above described land, or any part thereof, adversely to the claim of the applicant hereto, are required to file their adverse claims with the Register of the United States and Office, at Bodie, State of California, on or before the 15th day of April, 1890, or they will be barred by virtue of the provisions of said Act.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT whereas Alexander Gray, a citizen of the United States, over the age of twenty-one years, has made application under the Act of Congress entitled "An Act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada, and in Washington Territory," approved June 4, 1878, to purchase at this office 5 1/2 ac. of S. W. 1/4 of S. E. 1/4 of S. 1/2 of Section 2, Township 4 N., Range 25 E., M. 10 S., containing 87 acres, claiming said land to be valuable chiefly for its timber, and the said applicant having made and filed in this office the affidavit as to the character of said land as required by said Act.
